Northumberland Tyne & Wear NHS Trust

We provide learning disability and mental health services in Northumberland, Tyneside and Wearside

In Newcastle we provide the community team for learning disability, mental health community services and some independent supported living services.

People who live in Newcastle can also use our hospital services.

What have we done this year

- Been members of the Partnership Board and Health sub group
- Trained GPs about supporting people with learning disability
- Started the 'In The Know' group

- Worked closely with families and people with a learning disability to provide good services and support
- Worked with carers to develop a Charter for carers with standards
- Worked hard to prepare to become a Foundation Trust and encourage people with learning disabilities and their carers to be involved – would you like to join?
